

The North and the South

39 1 4

Chapter 1 by Oakley Buttars

It all started that one day. The one day when the south was told they were not allowed to own slaves. I lived in the south, but my parents did not want to live there so we moved to the north. My family was poor and did not own any slaves. I am glad we did not own any and moved to the north. I met so many people ,but I left the man I loved in the south.

My name is Josephine or Joseph which is the name the called me in the army. I have three siblings my older brother, Carson, and my younger sister, Belle. I was sixteen years old at this time and this is my story

Chapter 2 by Oakley Buttars

Takes place during the civil war

Hello, my name is Charles Dervin and I lived down in the place some called the south. Everything was great before the fighting started. I had fallen in love with a girl named Josephine Miller. Then her and her family moved up north just after some of us Confederates attacked Fort Sumter on April 12, 1861.
